

DEPARTMENT HEADS PLAN GUARD RELIEF

Distribution of Appropriation for Needy Families Occupies Officials.

Plans for the expenditure of the $2,000,000 appropriated by Congress for the relief of families of military men are being formulated by the War Department, and it is expected that they will be announced in a few days. Those who have worked in Guard relief believe that the experts of the Pension Bureau will be utilized to investigate cases and distribute the money.

Over $100 was realized by the lawn fete of the Women's Relief Association, held Friday and Saturday nights, according to Mrs. Joseph Bogan, who was chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

An important meeting of the Women's Relief Association has been called by Mrs. William E. Harvey, president, for tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at Mrs. Harvey's residence, 1744 Lamont street.

It is probable that citizen Guard relief bodies will have to continue their work for at least a month before the government takes over the work. The committee is still in need of funds.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 3.—Statistics just completed of bequests to the Catholic Church in the United States during the last three months show many large religious benefactions. The Missionary Society of St. Paul the Apostle is the chief beneficiary, receiving nearly $600,000.

Mrs. Barbara Givernaud, widow of Etienne Givernaud, has given the Givernaud mansion in New Durham, Hudson County, N. J., valued at from $300,000 to $500,000, to St. Joseph's Orphanage, Jersey City. Three hundred thousand dollars will go to the Diocese of Detroit from the estate of the late Michael Capla, packer and real estate dealer. The church of the Holy Spirit of Atlantic City, N. Boo-eh! Boo-eh! Cleveland Players Smash Up All Straw Hats in Sight

The favorite dog-days pastime of baseballists was indulged in yesterday by the Indian array of batters and retrievers of the elusive ball. The game played is known as "straw-hat-tearing," and runs the gamut of sport from perpetration to profane ejaculation.

Cleveland players of a humorous state of mind congregated early in the showers assigned to them in the ball park, and anticipating the midnight hour by nine-hour glasses of sand demolished all the straw hats they could lay hands on. "Boo-eh! Boo-eh!" was the battle cry, and they all fell on to the unfortunate wearer of a hay hat, captured the dome covering and—exit hat, also some good Presbyterian swearing, roundly, squarely and in every other trigonometric way a husky is supposed to swear to keep his temper and yet grieve.

Tris Speaker, who has the same sized hat band he had when he was in the minors, wore a felt hat, so he alone went away unruffled, the rest of the Ohioans having to content themselves in the display of cologne that advertised their favorite barbers.

Sennets, Panamas, mackinaws and Bermuda grass lids were food for the ravishing fangs of the Indians who thrived for straw, and a litter of fully two bushels of the product allied to alfalfa was gathered by the sweep boys.

Joe Boehling saved the remnants of his bonnet to make souvenir post cards out of, while Moeller turned his straw scatterings over to a friend, who suggested it might make splendid breakfast food for his boy's pet donkey. Manager Fohl's hat was entire with exception of a hole "bit out the top," and he was grateful for the mild vandalism perpetrated by his players. He laconically remarked: "Well, I'm glad it's not raining!"

The colored detachment of the District

Guard has been recruited faster than any other branch. Since the battalion left the sixty-three men in camp, as well as a detachment of about forty men sent when Battery B left, have joined. The First Separate Battalion, now at Naco, Ariz., needs only about twenty men to bring it to war strength.
